

Food may become contaminated with antimicrobial resistant bacteria at any stage from farm to fork.

If food is not properly prepared or cooked, it can result in a foodborne infection.

Foodborne pathogens that carry antimicrobial resistance often cause more serious infections, leading to hospitalisation and even death.

FOOD SAFETY
M
R

